DROP THE FURNACE.

South Washington Citizens Will Fight the Canal Now. A well-attended meeting of the South Washington Citizens' Association was held last evening in the hall of the Washington Athletic Club on South Capitol street. Dr. E. C. C. Winner presided, and the action of the Commissioners in regard to the garbage crematory was discussed at length by several members. It was decided, how-ever, that it was useless to take any action on the matter until the official permit to begin work on the furnace was issued, sometime during the week.

Mr. R. J. Collins thought that it was no use to take the matter before the Commissioners again, as the association would receive no satisfaction whatever. He said the courts were the only place to receive justice. It was therefore concluded to let the matter drop for the present and turn their attention to the James creek canal. Several new names were added to the committee whose effort is to rid South Washington of this nuisance.

FPISCOPATE NOW SUPREME

It Can Approve or Reject Just as Much of the Legislation of the Junior Body as It Pleases-Many Delegates Declare the Dioceses Will Reinstate the Old Clause.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 7.-By a viva voce vote, which was sufficiently large in volume to restrain the minority from challenging a division, the house of deputies of the Episcopal convention to-day placed itself on record as being willing to surrender one of its most valuable prerogatives and practically the only one that enables it to hold the whip hand in preventing the House of Bishops from making of itself, if it were so disposed, a iteral oligarchy. But for the fact that it is now recognized that the present debate is but an interchange of opinions between the representatives of the various dioceses and that the old constitution is likely to remain the founda-tion of the church, the refusal of the conven-tion to re-enact the clause putting into effect within three days all legislation concerning which the bishopshad made no sign might be fraught with grave consequences to the

A number of deputies, both lay and derical, declare to-night that if the consideration of the revision was completed at this meeting and the document went to the dioceses, the old clause would be re-inoncesses, the old clause would be re-in-stated by an overwhelming majority. Most of the delegates to the present convention were elected before the preliminary repor-of the commission was issued and conse-quently in voting represented more their own views and sentiments than those of the dioceses, the latter not having had an opportunity of officially express

Then came the celebrated section 3, providing for the election of a primus, or head of the house of bishops, to hold office for life, save in the event of voluntary resignation. Quickly the amendments piled up. One delegate favored a designation of "president bishop," another "archbishep," still another "presiding bishop," one more "primate."

The house was not in favor of any one of the first three, nor did it kindly regard as a substitute that the bishops elect their own presiding official and give him whatever designation they might see fit. A vote had not becarrenched on the "primate" proposition when the house adjourned.

The bishops also devoted themselves this afternoon to the revision.

Severe Effects of the Drought in North Carolina and New Jersey.

Water Supply of Towns Put In Jeopardy, Mills Stopped, Pastures Withered and Crops Injured.

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 7 .- To-night rain began falling for the first time in nearly forty-five days. The drought has been evere in the State, but has injured only late crops. It cut off some corn and forced cotton to open prematurely and with phenomenal rapidity. No ploughing for fall seeding of grain has been practicable Water mills in several sections have stopped and streams bave shrunk.

Cape Fear River, at Fayetteville, which s usually navigable for steamers, is only a few inches deep. Some railways have diffi-culty in procuring water. Yet in spite of the drought, crops, with the exception of cotton, are the largest in many years, and farmers are generally satisfied. Somerville, N. J., Oct. 7.—Somerset county is suffering greatly from the most withering drought within the memory of the oldest inhabitants. From all sections of the country come reports of farmers hauling water for farm uses, of dried-up streams and water for farm uses, of dried-up streams and wells, of withered pasture fields, of falling leaves, and all other consequences incident to an extended drought. In the lower townships the corn crop will not nearly come up to the earlier calculations.

Fruit has not matured, and in some instance is dropping badly. The cattle cannot subsist on the parched fields, and many of the farmers are feeding them.

The Raritan river, which supplied the towns of Somerville and Raritan with water for domestic uses, is so low that the water company is considering the advis-bility of notifying the consumers to use as economically as possible. It is also feared that sickness may result from a water supply where the river is too low to sweep out the Impurities Fewer Applications for Aid During the Past Year Than for the Previous Twelve Months-How This Is Accounted For-Officers Elected for the Ensuing Year.

The fourth anniversary meeting and elecon of officers of the United Hebrew Charies Society was held last evening at the Eighth street synagogue.

The meeting was conducted by President
L. Blout, and was largely attended, there being present, besides the members, many of the most prominent Hebrews of the city, among whom were many ladies The report of Treasurer A. D. Prince was very satisfactory and showed a balance on the right side.

President Blout submitted a very elaborate report, in which he reviewed the history of the society since its permanent organization. During the last year, he said, there has been but little change in the scope or tenor of the work. The number of applicants for aid was not as numerous as in former years, but was of a mature which necessitated larger outlays of funds. AIM OF THE BOARD. The aim of the board of managers was to aid the unfortunates to help themselves, and the aid extended was with the view of enabling them to earn an honest living by their own exertion. This method, though at first seemingly expensive, in the end aiways proved economical and satisfac-tory to all concerned.

The number of applicants during the year reached 800, and of these 429 were relieved.

The total amount of funds received during he year was $3,138.77, not quite half of which was received in contributions from members.

The report also stated that the appeals to co-religionists for aid had, in many instances, been favorably answered. This was notably so in many cases where here tofore support or nid was severely with-held and the existence of the association entirely ignored.

It may seem strange, he said, that in the face of protracted industrial and business depression, coupled with the unusual se verity of the past winter, which insturally had a tendency to increase poverty and want, that a decrease in the number of applicants for assistance should be noted. But such is the fact, and this may properly be attributed to the manner in which many of the local poor have been, through the agency of the society, placed in self-supporting position.

LADIES GIVE ASSISTANCE. The assistance given by the Ladies' Sewing Society, under the direction of Miss Bertha Baar, was timely and efficient.
